

New LIS Book Club Fosters Critical Librarianship

In early 2018 the Progressive Librarians Guild Student Chapter & UHM LIS Diversity Council partnered to launch a joint book club. This is what and how we read.

The Theory

- Foster the LIS community
- Encourage open, critical, and honest dialogue on difficult but important issues
- Create deeper, more insightful connections between progressivism, diversity, and critical librarianship

PROGRESSIVE
LIBRARIANS GUILD

@uhmlisdiversity
@plgmanoa

The Practice

- Invite the entire UHM LIS 'Ohana
- Seek book suggestions; vote for the final choice
- Alternate between fiction and nonfiction
- Meet and discuss every other month
- Build relationships between LIS peers and colleagues

Contact Information (LIS Master's Candidates)

Valerie Brett Shaindlin | vshaindl@hawaii.edu
Laila Brown | lailab@hawaii.edu
Holiday Vega | holidayv@hawaii.edu

Selected Citations

- Accardi, M. T. (2013). Feminist pedagogy for library instruction. Sacramento, CA: Library Juice Press.
- Irvin Morris, V. (2012). Reading in mirrors: Using street literature to facilitate practitioner inquiry with urban public service librarians (Doctoral dissertation). Retrieved from ProQuest Dissertations & Theses Global. (3538166)
- Rosenblatt, L. (1938). Literature as exploration. New York, NY: Noble and Noble.
- Icons made by Freepik from www.flaticon.com